IRRIGATION IN ITALY.

The Grand Artery of the Lombardy Meadows—The Parent Ditch of Europe.

The Naviglio Grande, or Great Canal of the Ticino, the parent of the irrigation canals of Europe, is an artificial river constructed so early as the twelfth century, which has for more than six hundred years borne forward a volume of water equal to nearly 1800 cubic feet per second. This great mass of water has been spread over the surface of the country through a thousand channels, stimulating the productiveness of the soil to such an extent as to make the country through which it passes one of the richest and most densely populated which the world has ever seen. For the cultivation of winter meadows, the land is disposed in a series of small ridges and valleys, over which a flow of water is effected that never freezes; and from the meadows are obtained during the year. Another source of supply are the springs. Being derived from a considerable depth below the surface of the soil, the temperature of the water is always higher in winter than that of the canals, and hence it is greatly preferred for the irrigation of the meadows. In the financial administration of the great canals, which may be regarded as the main arteries of the IRRIGATION SYSTEM OF LOMBARDY, it has been the invariable practice of the government to sell the water in absolute property to the possessors of the soil. So soon as the waters pass beyond the banks of the government canal the purchasers have unrestricted liberty to dispose of it as they choose. The right of passage reserves to every proprietor of water the power of carrying his channel, under certain specified conditions, across all lands intervening between the main canal and his own property; and when the supply exceeds the immediate wants of the purchaser, he has the right to dispose of the surplus to such of his neighbors as are desirous of having it. In Milanese a certain measure of water is assigned to every subsidiary canal, and the legal capacity of the dispensing canals is limited to the quantity of water they can always command, even in the dry season.

THE UNIT OF MEASURE used in irrigation is the Milanese "oncia," consisting of that quantity of water, which, by its own pressure, passes through an aperture 0.198 centimetres high, 0.140 centimetres wide, 70,900 centimetres below the surface of the water. The "oncia" is calculated at 2.50 cubic metres per minute, or 4.16 litres per second. For the distribution of water in the derivatory canals in due proportion among the different proprietors, it suffices to make ordinary transverse canals, each with an oblique angle projecting into the main current, which thus is divided into sections, roughly determining the quantity of water belonging to each user. The subsidiary canals are constructed according to rule: the mouths are either open or furnished with sluices, as the distribution of water is temporary or continual. When the subdivisions of the waters has attained a certain limit it is stopped, and ANY DEFICIENCY IN THE SUPPLY is made good by its successive use among different proprietors, the whole body of water being turned into one or other of the subsidiary canals by the help of the sluices, according to the nature of the agricultural rotation, the quantity of water at command, and the character of the soil. The "rota," as it is called, is terminated at a certain number of days, and is repeated in the same order. This takes place during the summer months, that is, the period between the 25th of March and the 25th of September. In the winter the irrigation is continuous for the period of the year, and is entitled to it and who may require it. In the Unions, for the purposes of irrigation, the expenses are divided among the members in proportion to the use of the water. A part of the charges are also borne by the factories, which may be worked by water power. The meadows and the rice fields may be said almost divide between them that vast volume of water which is every year poured over that country, the irrigation of Indian corn or flax consuming but a small portion of the supply. It may be interesting to remember that Leonardo da Vinci, whose celebrated fresco painting of the "Last Supper," at the convent of Santa Maria delle Grazie, is eagerly sought after by all travelers to Milan can claim to have been one of the earliest of the great hydraulic engineers of Lombardy—an example of versatility of talent by no means rare among the gifted Latin races.

New Torture For Compressed Air. [Gold Hill News.] W. R. Eckart, superintendent of the Fulton Foundry, has received a patent for an apparatus through which compressed air is expanded in the lower levels by means of heat. For this purpose the heat of the lower levels is utilized. By means of the invention a given amount of compressed air is made to exert a vastly increased force. As the compressed air will be expanded by means of the heated air of the mines passing through properly arranged tubes coiled in the receivers the cost will be nothing.

MISCELLANEOUS NEWS.

Wool is scarce in Philadelphia, and there is a good demand for California fine and medium at 20¢25; coarse, 18¢22.

The Czar has determined to shorten the period of military service in the line by three years, which will permit an immense increase in the number of recruits.

The Woolwich Arsenal in England has been of late busy in preparing balloons for the African war. The largest is called Saladin, and contains 38,000 cubic feet of gas. There are also the Talisman of 19,000 cubic feet, the Saracen of 15,000, the Vidette of 14,000, and a little balloon named the Pilot of 600 feet. Arrangements have been made for telegraphic communications with them, when aloft, by means of a wire running through the cable restraining them. Means have been also found for re-enforcing them with gas while in the air. This latter process is not explained.

How much is Gen. Schenck's hand worth? This interesting problem has been frequently solved, with various results, both at Washington and at London when he represented the national game at the Court of St. James. The latest solution was reached a few days ago by the accountants of the Pension Bureau. Gen. Schenck was so unfortunate, or fortunate, as to receive a slight wound in the hand at Vienna in Virginia, early in the civil war. For this wound he has been receiving a pension of $30 a month. Under the arrears of pensions bill he has just drawn from the United States treasury the sum of $4,825, the largest payment yet made to any individual under that act.

A young Jewish lady of a rich and respected family was on the point of being married near Cologne, in Germany, when a peasant woman entered and forbade the ceremony. She said that twenty years before she had been the nurse of the child now supposed to be the bride, but had accidentally rolled over upon it and smothered it while sleeping. Fearing punishment, she substituted her own infant, and allowed it subsequently to be taken from her. "Of course I am much obliged for the education and rearing the child has received," said the woman, "but you can understand that as a good Christian I could never allow my daughter to be married to a Jew."

Lieutenant W. C. Brown, of the First Cavalry, passed through Jacksonville, Oregon, says the Sentinel, with three wagons and an escort of fifteen cavalry and infantry, having in charge thirty-one Indian prisoners destined for Vancouver. The prisoners belong to Eagan's and Ochobe's bands of Puutes, and have been picked up as stragglers since the close of the late Puute war. They were heavily ironed, and, for better security, a chain is run through their irons every night upon camping. It is not known what disposition is to be made of them by the war department, but they will probably be sent to Yakima, where the remainder of the tribe are at present. The poor devils were a sad and dejected look, and were a hard looking lot, one of them having acquired distinction as a murderer.

Low Grade Ores. [Tuscarora Times-Review.] From a number of mining locations in this district considerable quantities of low grade ore have been extracted and the claims subsequently abandoned, for the reason that it was thought impossible to pay the cost of reduction from their yield. A practical mill man informs us that chloride ore which will mill from $30 to $40 per ton can be profitably worked here, provided the cost of extracting it from the mine is not unusually great. Of course the reduction of sulphurets would be more expensive.

Asking for a Daily Mail. [Silver State.] The people of Canyon City, Oregon, are circulating a petition to the post-office department praying that a daily mail be established between that place and Camp McDermitt. The Canyon City News says it is a petition that everybody in that vicinity should sign, for if the increase is ordered it insures them three days later news from the east and San Francisco than by any other route, and will give travelers three days advantage in going to and from the railroad.

SILVER PRODUCTION.
The best judges of this country who have seen the tests made of the Robertson process, by Mr. Treadway, are thoroughly convinced that it is by far the best way of working ores, even if it is not all that its inventor claims it to be. Every kind of rock which has been brought to him has been worked at a cost which indicates that any rock which has five dollars per ton in it will pay cost. Of course there is a great difference in ores, in point of roasting, some taking more fuel and time than others, but undoubtedly the cost of working is very low. The simplicity of the work, is at once its recommendation and its danger. With only three ingredients it seems almost impossible to catch the precious metals in all their chemical forms. If the process is capable of working large quantities of ore, a great revolution will take place in the mining industry in Nevada. Everybody who can raise two thousand dollars will buy a Robertson furnace, and if any place can be found to put the metal at a decent price, Nevada will be the richest state in the Union. It seems to be a certainty, however, that if all the vast masses of rock that contains over five dollars to the ton in silver can be made to yield it up, there will have to be new uses for the metal or there will be poorer sales at lower prices.

EDITORIAL NOTES.
Kearney has fallen out with the Chronicle and its new constitution party. He says the new constitution is not half radical enough to suit him.
In view of this would it not be well for the papers that opposed the new constitution to think well before they choose between Kearney and the other wing of its supporters. As he is still more agrarian and communicative than the Chronicle, Terry, Howard et al, had they not better take the least of two evils? Or lay themselves open to the charge of venting mere partisan spite.

weeks the lake has been so rough that it has been impossible to gather the logs into booms for towing across. A boom containing 350,000 feet of logs was broken up during a recent rough spell, and the logs scattered broadcast on the lake. Most of them have been beached since and recovered.

The motion providing for this holiday was made by Don Cameron, who has arranged to convey a large number of senators to the Baltimore races as his

that the house promptly concur in the senate amendments to the bill, but even if sent to a conference committee, it will doubtless be passed and sent to the President before the close of the present week. The veto will probably be received about next Tuesday, and the Democrats will then hold a caucus to determine their future line of action.

To the Good People of Reno.
Having entered the field with the balance to contend for a share of the public patronage, it would perhaps be well at the start to state our aims to the above. I am not a sufferer by the fire, so claim no sympathy on that score. I believe it's the duty of the good people to give preference to old residents, provided all things are equal, but if Brown asks fifty cents for what Smith is willing to sell for twenty-five, on the grounds that he is looser by the fire and wants to get even,
the trade will naturally go to the latter.
Hence I say we have no claim on the people
except on those who wish to economize.
If you wish to buy your wife a fine silk dress by all means go to Zurich. If you want a suit of fine clothes go to friend Nathan's or where a dollar will buy a basketful. Recollect goods just as square as though sold over a marble counter. A child that can lip out the names of the articles wanted, can buy just as cheap as an expert.

that do not prove as represented.

JOTTINGS.

The weather is decidedly wintry to-day.

Dr. Hogan is building a porch to the front of his residence.

No criminal business in the justice court yesterday nor to-day.

Gov. R. M. Clarke is recovering from his late attack of sickness.

Judge King is holding court in Genoa, Douglas county.

Foot ball is a favorite sport just now with the youthful Renoites.

W. Bradley has received a car load of excellent red-wood lumber.

A gang of Chinamen are ballasting the railroad tracks in front of the depot.

The employees of the GAZETTE return thanks to William Cain for a supply of Budweiser.

There is a good deal of travel coming from the east of late, both on the emigrant and passenger trains.

Senator Boardman is building a new barn, and putting on an addition to his residence.

R. P. M. Kelly has dahlias and other plants in pots which can be set into the ground at any time without injury. See 50 cent ad.

It is silly reported around town that Major Mann is taking Anti-fal with a view to perpetrating matrimony. The committee on tar are investigating the matter.

There is not so much building going on now as there was two or three weeks ago, though the buildings going up now are of a much better character.

Holman's German compressed yeast will be distributed by Burchard & McClelland. They will receive orders from all who desire to use it, and deliver it regularly after next week.

The roof of the Depot hotel is being painted with tallings from the English mill. They have been tested and have been proven to make excellent fire-proof paint.

The boys who go out shooting near the Orr ditch north of town are liable to send a stray shot into the powder house, when the whole neighborhood will be blown into the middle of next election.

Interest in Mines Reviving.

Mr. Tredway's success in saving the silver in refractory ores has revived some interest in the mines in this neighborhood. Several new locations have been made in the last few days. One made by Josh Laws on Peavine hill looks very promising. Some of the ore found in it was tested by Mr. Tredway, and found to be exceedingly rich in silver.

Driving Accident.

Yesterday afternoon a horse driven by B. F. Lee accidentally struck a boy named Jimmie Carroll, on the calf of the leg with one of his hoofs, and knocked him down. Fortunately the boy got out of the way before the buggy wheels ran over him. He was only slightly hurt.

A full line of zephyrs at 12 1/2 cents per ounce at [mail] Jacob Passcott's.

PERSONAL.

N. J. Sanlibury came up from San Francisco yesterday.

Isaac Barnett returned from a business trip to San Francisco this morning.

J. C. Hagerman and family returned yesterday from a short visit to the Bay city.

Rev. Mr. Drahms is among us again, much improved in appearance since his short stay in California.

William Johnson, of Grass Valley, arrived from that place yesterday, and went up to Virginia this morning.

Griff Williams, who has lately come from Lake, says that the Mammoth mine in that district is the biggest thing he ever saw. The ore is enormously rich, and is almost inexhaustible in extent.

Fred Fisk, one of the proprietors of the Eureka Leader, arrived in Reno last night. Mr. Fisk is canvassing for subscriptions to his paper, which is one of the brightest, ablest and most independent journals on the Pacific coast. He leaves to-morrow for Carson and Virginia.

Alas! We Grew?

To-day we are out of leading strings, and the citizens, houses, lots, lands, dogs and back alleys are to be hereafter known, corporately and collectively as the Town of Reno. Kings are hedged about by divinity, but Reno is hedged about by an elastic and circumlocutory corporation line, which recognizes not the difference between pasture fields and brick blocks. Singly and collectively our existence is official, and so is our dog, and the ox and the ass that is outside of our gates. The ubiquitous town dog attracts a great amount of authoritative municipality. He is to be taxed, tagged, pounded, and in certain cases is to be the victim of official Bergiasism. The inoffensive cow can no longer break her fast from flower pots and clothes lines without being imprisoned like a common criminal. The hog cannot root under a garden fence without being confronted by a ukase of the town board. We, collectively, have said that we, individually, shall not run our stovespipes through our roof, throw our offal in the street, let our dog run at large, or pasture our cow in our neighbor's garden and we are taxing ourselves for the privilege of doing it.

Bound to Marry.

A young man not a thousand miles from here, who is working for the magnificent salary of seven dollars a week, informed his employer a short time ago that he was going to get married. His employer asked him if he had anything besides his salary, and received a negative answer. He then asked the matrimonial aspirant if his wife had any money, and was again met with a no.

"How in the name of common sense are you going to get along?" demanded the employer.

The fellow scratched his head for a moment, and then said with a leer, "Well, sir, I can't see anything."

The employer agreed that he was right from that standpoint, but couldn't see who was to quit winner in the transaction.

Furnished With a Job.

There are nine prisoners at present in the county jail. Six of them, those serving out sentences, have been put to work building a stone fence and doing other work on the county poor farm. This is as it should be. Put petty offenders to work and make them earn their keep, and they will not be so ready to break the law.

Building a Flouring Mill.

M. C. Lake and H. H. Beck are building a flouring mill on the site of the State Mills, burned in the fire. The foundations have been laid, and the lumber for completing the building is already on the ground. Mr. Beck is superintending the work and is pushing it ahead as lively as circumstances will admit.

The Work Begun.

Abrahams Bros. & Co. have already begun to receive cloth which they propose to have made up right here. They will employ a large number of hands, some skilled tailors, others women and girls. Their goods are French, Scotch and American of all grades. Such an enterprise deserves encouragement.

Surprise Valley.

A number of teams came in from Surprise Valley to-day for freight. The drivers say that crops in that section are looking finely. No grasshoppers have appeared in the valley as yet, except a few in the upper end. No danger, however, is apprehended from them this summer.

The State Prison Grounds.

A. J. Hatch and L. L. Crockett were out to-day making an examination of the branch state prison grounds. About half the tract will be fenced and a water ditch dug for irrigating purposes. Owing to the lateness of the season no trees or shrubbery will be planted before next fall.

New Building.

J. F. Cookes will commence the erection of a new building on Virginia street, adjoining the Metropolitan hotel, in a few days. The building will be used as a restaurant by Charles Merrill, and will be connected with the hotel.

Cardboards and canvases for fancy work at New York prices at [mail] Jacob Passcott's.

A Mammoth Stock of Fine Goods.

The clerks at Isaac Barnett's have been kept very busy for the past three days opening and stowing away the immense stock of dry goods, which he has been purchasing in San Francisco. The shelves and counters are fairly groaning under the piles of dry, fancy and millinery goods, all of the newest and most fashionable styles. His stock is complete in every department, and comprises every article in the dry goods line. There are silks, satins and laces for the rich, calicoes, ginghams and worsteds for the more humble and economical, and thread, ribbons, hosiery, etc., etc., for everybody, at prices that defy competition. Mr. Barnett has personally superintended the purchases, and has taken great care to see that he only bought the best goods in the market.

A Good Answer.

A telegraphic dispatch came day before yesterday for D. Collins, one of the parties convicted of being interested in the Brown-Jones prize fight, from his "girl" in Carson, asking "What is the matter? I have not heard from you in three days." "Fifty-five dollars, or twenty-seven days," was the laconic answer wired back. The money promptly came by express, and Collins breathes the air of heaven again.

The Methodist Fair.

The Methodist fair and festival commences this evening at the pavilion. The lady promoters of the scheme have made every preparation to insure its success, and will exert themselves to make it pleasant for all who come. The price of admission for the three nights is only 50 cents, and inasmuch that the profits of the venture are to be devoted to the church, everybody ought to go and help the ladies in their work.

The Darien Canal.

The Times thinks the Darien canal congress is deeply in earnest and composed of men whose minds are already made up as to the feasibility of the canal. The question with them is not shall it be done, but when and where. The choice of the congress appears at this moment to be between the San Blas route, with its enormous tunnel, and the Nicaragua, with its long succession of locks on both sides of the lake.

List of Officers Filed.

In compliance with the law the names of the officers of the Pacific Wood, Lumber and Flume Co. have been filed in the county recorder's office. J. W. Mackay, W. S. Lyle, Geo. Congdon, E. C. Platt and J. L. Flood, directors; J. W. Mackay, president; W. S. Lyle, vice-president; J. M. Taylor, Superintendent and Jas. H. Gager, secretary.

Another Effect of the Constitution.

"I knew the new constitution would drive everything out of California," said old Giglamps this afternoon. "See, all the snow and cold weather is coming down here out of the mountains. I'll bet a dime to a ginger snap that there's a foot of snow on the ground next Fourth of July." Nobody disputed the assertion, and old G. gave his head a wise shake and walked off.

Burglary Last Night.

The Ocean Spray saloon was burglarized last night. The thief went through the drawer, but only got a few short bits for his pains. He loaded himself with cigars and movable plunder of no great value, and decamped. The burglar covered up his tracks so well that no trace of him can be found.

Weather Items.

Last night a light shower of rain fell, and all this forenoon thick clouds hung about the base of the mountains. The appearances indicate that some rain or snow fell up in the Sierras this morning. A few drops fell in town, but did not reach the dignity of a shower.

Delayed by Bad Weather.

The damp, disagreeable weather of late has greatly retarded progress on the Depot hotel. It prevents the plastering from drying, which keeps everything else back. If the weather was dry and sunny the work would go ahead much faster.

Gone Below.

Deacon Parkinson went below night before last to try and recover his health. His trial was postponed a second time on account of his illness. He is still under bonds to appear for trial.

A Ice Stock.

J. Prescott has ladies and children's hats for 50 cents apiece; also a large stock of millinery goods, and ladies wear of ever description. Call and examine his stock.

Thankful.

The GAZETTE returns thanks to the ladies of the Methodist society for a couple of complimentary tickets to their grand fair and festival at the pavilion.

Muslins, sheetings, house lining, wall paper, at New York prices, at [mail] Jacob Passcott's.
